

ARGUMENTS/REMARKS

The claim amendments provided with this response are for the purposes of appeal, and are to correct an error that was introduced at some point earlier in the prosecution in this case. In the claims, the term “context description data”, which is used throughout the specification and in the originally filed claims, was inadvertently changed to improperly read “content description data”. This amendment corrects that error. The Examiner is requested to enter these claims for the purposes of appeal, as these amendments do not raise any new issues.
